"The Millionaire Baby"

Everything that Philo touched seemingly turned to gold, and with that gold came worldly comforts, power, social standing and prestige. However, Philo, the millionaire, finally realized that worldly wealth could not buy fatherhood and he mourned and refused to be comforted.

Marion, the wife, surrounded as she was with every luxury, naturally came to think that the touch of Mides was the magic touch in this world: she fondly believed that gold, yellow gold, could bring sunshine and happiness into a childless home: could wield a power to successfully deceive her husband; could buy the bright presence and the happy voices of children; could win Philo from the busy marts of trade into love of home life and proud fatherhood.

Instead of all these things the gold only brought.....?

PRINCE KUHIO MAY MOVE FOR SPEEDY TRIAL

Opinion of Attorney is That He Will Demand Hearing of Equity Case on Merits

Although the attorneys for Delegate Kuhio have not yet decided upon the next action in the equity suit against the trustees of the Liliuokalani Trust, one of counsel today stated that the prince may determine to fight the case on its merits and demand that a speedy trial be had.

Counsel added that he expects the action to go to trial soon. Kuhio's attorneys, he said, probably will not ask for a rehearing of the case in the supreme court, that tribunal having decided yesterday that the queen is not a party to the suit, but that Kuhio has the right to proceed in the matter as sole complainant.

The trustees of the Liliuokalani Trust, including W. O. Smith, S. M. Damon and Col. C. P. Iaukea, respondents in the suit in equity brought by Delegate Kuhio, in which he seeks to have the trust revoked, have filed in circuit court their answer to the complaint made by Kuhio. Individual answers also have been filed by Col. Iaukea and John A. Dominis as separate respondents.

Included in the answer are many exhibits, the whole document comprising 123 typewritten pages. Denial is made of the delegate's allegation that he always was treated by Queen Liliuokalani as her "closest kin," and that she had always maintained the most friendly relations with him.

The answer alleges that, since the death of her husband, John O. Dominis, the queen has attended to her affairs practically alone, asking the advice of counsel only when she felt disposed. The history of the present trust deed is outlined in detail.

On December 2, 1909, at the time of the signing of the present trust deed, the gross annual income of the estate was $10,800, and, when the present suit was begun, the annual gross income had grown to $23,190.59, the answer declares. With the exception of $11,500, the queen's indebtedness has been wiped out, it is added, and, previous to the execution of the trust deed, the queen owed $71,886.63.

ELDER GORDON CONFIDENT SON WILL BE HELD

There is little doubt now that young John Gordon, who is on his way to America, previously to the British expeditionary forces, will be returned to his father in Honolulu.

Sheriff Charles H. Rose last night received a radiogram from Captain Dawson of the steamer Ventura to the effect that Gordon is on board and that he will be landed at Pago Pago, Samoa. Governor John M. Poyer at Tutuila, Samoa, already has been advised by the sheriff to be on the look-out for the boy and have him returned to this city.

The Ventura is scheduled to arrive at Pago Pago on March 13, and the Sierra will arrive there on March 14 on her way to Honolulu. Governor Poyer has been asked to place young Gordon aboard the Sierra. Territorial officials will take care of him after his arrival here.

Charles Gordon, the father, has gone back to work, confident that his son will be returned. In the meantime federal officials are continuing their investigations and are determined, they say, to find out whether, in reality, there have been any so-called "war plots" here.
